NOVEMBER PROGRAM-MEETING: An astounding number of nebulas of many types are scattered throughout the universe. Many provide fascinating views through small or large telescopes.

Attendees of the November Program-Meeting will be pleased to hear Dr. Edward Churchwell tell about one in particular in his talk "A NEW LOOK AT THE OMEGA NEBULA."

Dr. Churchwell has done research at the Max Planck Institute in Germany and is now on the faculty at UWMadison.

Members and guests are welcome to MEET - Friday, November 18, 8 p.m.

AT - the UWM Physics Bldg., room 133, located at the corner of Kenwood and Cramer.

MAS HOSTS RADIO "HAMS": A large group of amateur radio enthusiasts or "hams" met Friday night, November 4, at the MAS observatory near New Berlin. They met not only to tell about their hobby but to become acquainted with ours.

Barbara Regent (N9DIJ) gave a clear, short talk about amateur radio communication. She told about the pleasure of talking to people all over the world, amateur radio use during times of natural and man-made devastation, and how satellites are used in radio transmission.

A short video tape followed featuring Dr. Owen Garriot (W5LFL) who will be aboard the STS-9 Space Shuttle Columbia soon to be launched. Hams will have an opportunity to work with a real, live, ham in space!

While some hams displayed and operated their equipment, others viewed choice objects in a cloudless sky through our telescopes.

We hope they visit us again.

IF YOU'VE PAID YOUR DUE$, you need not read this item. If you haven't paid, try to do so in the near future so that Treas. Jim Toeller can reorder your Sky & Telescope magazine by the end of this month. Delayed payment might result in missed issues. If you plan to drop, alas, please notify Jim soon.

A handy membership renewal form appears on the last page of this newsletter.

ALCON '84 committee members will meet Monday, November 14, 7:30 p.m. in the Carroll College Student Union on the northeast corner of College and East Avenues in Waukesha. The meeting room is on the lower level.

The committee can use all the help it can get for hosting the 1984 national convention. Call Eileen Korenic at 541-3999 or Dan Koehler at 662-2987 for complete information. There are many subcommittees that could use your help. There are a thousand and one details that need attention. A lot of diligent people will make the job easy, even fun.

MEET OUR NEW MEMBERS! The Milwaukee Astronomical Society will add the following names to its roster: Gordon Birr, Milwaukee; Richard Goldberg and wife Alice, Glendale; John Stoekl, wife Peggy, and daughter Jeny, Milwaukee.

All will be introduced at the November Program-Meeting.
